Genelec Product Cables & Connectors

The purpose of this Application Note is to provide a complete overview of all audio and network cable lengths and connector's types delivered with a number of Genelec products.

Only products which have either, separate cables and connectors, or just separate connector(s) included in their packing are mentioned.

All products are always delivered with the appropriate mains power cable which is not listed in the table below.

Our current selection of connectors' type (Speakon, Euroblock, Wieland) is quite extensive and covers various connector models. The images below show each connector model in order for you to clearly identify the correct connector.
